PRESS RELEASE

Lelystad, February 2010

CATALINA 309 and CATALINA 375 at HISWA AMSTERDAM

During the Hiswa Amsterdam that is being held from the 2nd until 7 March, De Vaart Yachting will present the Catalina 375 and Catalina 309. Our stand is located on the central sailing pontoon in the Europe Hall, stand nrs. 01.322/323.

Catalina 375

In 2009 Catalina Yachts launched the Catalina 375, a fresh new design, characteristic of the successful Catalina 36, and incorporating the best features found on all of Catalina's latest models.

Virtually every system in this yacht has been reviewed and optimized for improved performance, efficiency and owner maintenance.

The Catalina 375 has a sculpted, contemporary and functional low profile deck and a stable performance hull form. High quality hardware and offshore capable rigging complements a substantial sail plan with in-mast furling main and vertical battens. Twin backstays balance the powerful rig, creating an unobstructed "California size" cockpit.

Catalina 309

The Catalina 309 was introduced in 2007 based on the successful Catalina 30. The new Catalina 309 is a wholesome family racer/cruiser combining good performance and great accommodation with contemporary lines and style.

The interior feels much larger than her 31-feet. An easy descent (no steep ladder) into a very roomy interior reveals an enclosed aft cabin, comfortable v-berth, sit down chart table, spacious head and 6'2" headroom. The salon seats six with a symmetrical folding table.

The cockpit is large, a Catalina priority, with seats long enough to stretch out on.

All sail controls are mounted on deck and led aft to the cockpit. The rig is specifically designed to optimize the sail area for enhanced performance, with the convenience of in-mast furling, which is standard equipment on the 309.
